

JEHOVAH TSIDKENU PRAYER 2

Heavenly Father,

I come before You with gratitude and confidence, not because of my own goodness or performance, but because of the finished work of Jesus Christ. Thank You that through the blood of Christ I have been made righteous. This is my identity. I am not defined by my failures, my striving, my past, or my ability to get everything right. I am defined by Your grace and by what Jesus has done for me.

Jehovah Tsidkenu, You are the Lord my Righteousness. Thank You that I am no longer an orphan trying to earn love or approval. You are my Father, and I belong to You. I am accepted, chosen, and deeply loved. Because of Jesus, I am not under the Law but under grace, and Your grace empowers me to live in freedom, peace, and victory.

Lord, Your Word says in Psalms 55:22 that You will never permit the righteous to be shaken. So today I cast every burden, every fear, every anxious thought, and every heavy concern onto You. Strengthen my heart and steady my spirit in every season.

Thank You that I am seated with Christ in heavenly places, far above fear, defeat, and condemnation. Through this gift of righteousness, I can rule and reign in life, as declared in Epistle to the Romans 5:17.

Father, according to Psalms 92:12–15, I declare that I will flourish like a palm tree and grow strong like the cedars of Lebanon. Planted in Your house at CRC Cape Town, I will flourish in the courts of my God. I will continue to bear fruit in every season of my life. I shall remain fresh, flourishing, and steadfast, declaring that the Lord is upright. He is my Rock, and there is no unrighteousness in Him.

Today I choose to stand secure in my identity as Your beloved child - righteous, strengthened, established, and unshaken through Christ.

In Jesus' name, Amen.
